E. B. THOMAS WILL NOT STAY DEAD

A postal card dated Volksrust, South Africa, January 5, 1907, from E. B. Thomas, was received in the mail of John Bowler yesterday.

"Do you know, I received a postcard from Pretoria today, which had a picture of the Government building. It was dated January 3 and across it was written, 'From E. B. Thomas,'" said W. R. Castle to an Advertiser reporter last night.

It happened to be the writer of the recent obituary sketch of Mr. Thomas who was addressed, and he sidestepped from acceptance of any blame for that ante-mortem operation with the remark:

"I can't help it. You fellows said he was dead. Fred. Harrison told me."

"Yes," Mr. Castle interjected, "I told you myself he was dead. The London Times said he was dead," he added emphatically.

Now, it may not be playing exactly fair for a man to be alive after his attorney and the London Times and the Pacific Commercial Advertiser have said that he was dead, still some allowance must be made for a man like Ted Thomas, a stubborn Englishman as he is. When he was in Honolulu he always wanted to have his own way.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Twelve Chinese gamblers were run in by the police yesterday.

Superintendent Holloway and his force will soon vacate their present quarters in favor of the Senate.

W. H. Hoogs and family expect to sail March 20th for the Coast where business interests call Mr. Hoogs for a time. They will probably reside in San Francisco.

The marriage of Miss Lani Ward, daughter of Mrs. Victoria Ward, to R. B. Booth, will take place February 25th at the residence of the bride's mother. The wedding will be a quiet one.

A number of copies of the Paradise of the Pacific showing the Floral Parade last year are at the rooms of the Promotion Committee. Any owner of an automobile wishing to decorate his machine for this year may obtain a copy by applying there.

A. A. Moore and wife of Marshalltown, Iowa, every winter for the last three seasons have come to Honolulu to escape the rigors of a Northern climate, and also because, as Mr. Moore says, the Hawaiian Islands are so well worth the trip in themselves. They are staying at the Young Hotel.

At a meeting of the Board of Immigration yesterday, the report of that body to the Governor was considered and adopted. No other business other than small routine was done, President E. D. Tenney said after the meeting. With him were present Jos. P. Cooke, secretary; A. L. C. Atkinson, J. J. Carden and J. H. Craig.
